

Jean Kelley Alliance Professional Code of Ethics

Jean Kelley Alliance members are guided by a documented and professional Code of Ethics, which governs our relationships with our clients.

We will not make false claims about what can be accomplished as a result of having a Leadership Coach.

We will honor the agreements we make with our clients.

We will recommend a client seek a different coach if their needs would be better served.

We will notify the appropriate authorities should a client disclose the intention to harm themselves or others.

We will terminate the coaching agreement if we deem that the client is no longer benefiting from our services

We will accurately disclose qualifications and expertise.

We will honor confidentiality.

We will not become sexually involved with our clients.

We will not give misleading information.